

CHILD PROTECTION POLICY - NSW

Our Service is committed to providing a child safe environment where children's safety and wellbeing is supported and children feel respected, valued and encouraged to reach their full potential. Our Service embeds the NSW Child Safe Standards and promotes a culture of safety and wellbeing to minimise the risk of child abuse, neglect or harm, while promoting children's sense of security and belonging. We will ensure all employees, students and volunteers understand the meaning, importance and benefits of providing a child safe environment and, critically, understand their reporting obligations and requirements. Our Service adheres to and aligns with the Education and Care Services \(Supply, Authorisation and Use of Devices\) Order 2026 related to taking images or videos of children.

PURPOSE

All educators, staff, visitors and volunteers are committed to identifying possible risk and significant risk of harm to children and young people at the Service. We comprehend our duty of care to protect children from all types of abuse and neglect and will adhere to our moral and legislative obligations at all times. We believe that children's safety, rights, and best interests are the paramount consideration for all Service operations, decisions and functions. Our Service ensures that child safety, wellbeing and best interests take priority over all other considerations, including financial interests or other obligations of management, and are embedded in our daily practices, policies and procedures.

Keeping children safe: a shared responsibility.

SCOPE

This policy applies to children, families, staff, educators, management, approved provider, nominated supervisor, students, volunteers and visitors of the Service.

DEFINITIONS

For additional definitions and key terms used within this policy, refer to Key Terms – Policies and Procedures.

Child abuse: is any act, or failure to act, that harms or places a child or young person at risk of harm to their physical, psychological or emotional health, wellbeing or development. Child abuse may occur as a single incident or as a pattern of incidents over time and can occur within organisations as well as within families, particularly where power, authority, isolation or poor supervision increase risk to children.

Child abuse, neglect and harm: The NSW Department of Communities and Justice (DCJ) identifies the following as abuse, neglect and harm:

- neglect
- sexual abuse
- physical abuse
- emotional abuse or psychological harm
- domestic and family violence
- circumcision, including female circumcision
- forced marriage and underage forced marriage

There are common physical and behavioural signs that may indicate abuse or neglect, known as indicators. The presence of a single indicator does not necessarily mean abuse or neglect has occurred; however, a single indicator can be as significant as the presence of several indicators. Each indicator should be considered in the context of other indicators and the child's individual circumstances.

A child's behaviour is likely to be affected when they are experiencing stress, and there can be many causes of stress unrelated to abuse or neglect. Educators and staff should seek to understand the specific cause of any change in a child's behaviour rather than assuming abuse or neglect, while remaining alert to their obligations under this policy. Further definitions and indicators are available through the DCJ's guidance on Recognising Child Abuse.

Concerning or harmful sexual behaviours displayed by a child: Children's sexual development includes curiosity about their bodies and sexual identity. While some behaviours may be part of normal, age-appropriate development, other behaviours may be outside typical developmental expectations and require an immediate response in line with child protection and mandatory reporting obligations. For further information, see pages 56-57 of the NQF Child Safe Culture Guide (ACECQA, 2025).

Inappropriate conduct to a child: any behaviour that a reasonable person would consider to be inappropriate in an education and care service, taking into account the child's age, development, safety, wellbeing and the context of the interaction.

Mandatory reporting is the legislative requirement for selected classes of people to report suspected child abuse and neglect to government authorities

Mandatory reporters are listed in the Children and Young Persons (Care and Protection) Act 1998 (The Care Act) and include people who deliver:

- Health care (e.g., registered medical practitioners, specialists, general practice nurses, midwives, occupational therapists, speech therapists, psychologists, dentists and other allied health professionals working in sole practice or in public or private health practices)
- Education (e.g., teachers, counsellors, principals)
- Children's services (e.g., childcare workers, family day carers and home-based carers)

Maltreatment refers to non-accidental behaviour towards another person, which is outside the norms of conduct and entails a substantial risk of causing physical or emotional harm. Behaviours may be intentional or unintentional and include acts of omission and commission. Specifically abuse refers to acts of commission and neglects acts of omission. Note that in practice, the terms child abuse and child neglect are used more frequently than the term child maltreatment.

Risk of Significant Harm (ROSH) refers to circumstances causing concern for the safety, welfare and wellbeing of a child or young person are present to a significant extent. This means it is sufficiently serious to warrant a response by a statutory authority irrespective of the family's consent. Mandatory reporters should report their concern to the Child Protection Helpline within 24 hours.

What is significant is not minor or trivial and may reasonably be expected to produce a substantial and demonstrably adverse impact on the child's or young person's safety, welfare, or wellbeing. In the case of an unborn child, what is significant is not minor or trivial and may reasonably be expected to produce a substantial and demonstrably adverse impact on the child.

Reasonable grounds refer to the need to have an objective basis for suspecting that a child may be at risk of abuse and neglect based on:

- Firsthand observation of the child or family
- What the child, parent or other person has disclosed
- What can reasonably be indirect based on observation, professional training and/ or experience

Reportable conduct: Early childhood services have legal obligations under the NSW Reportable Conduct Scheme. Under the Scheme, services are required to notify and investigate certain allegations (reportable allegations) against an employee in accordance with the requirements of the Children's Guardian Act 2019 (NSW). In NSW, reportable conduct includes:

- a sexual offence committed against, with, or in the presence of a child
- sexual misconduct with, towards, or in the presence of a child
- ill-treatment of a child
- neglect of a child
- an assault against a child
- behaviour that causes significant emotional or psychological harm to a child
- an offence under section 43B or 316A of the Crimes Act 1900.

For the purposes of the NSW Reportable Conduct Scheme, an employee may include paid employees, volunteers and certain contractors engaged by the Service.

WORKING WITH CHILDREN CHECK

All people working or volunteering with children in NSW must, by law, have a valid Working with Children Check (WWCC) in accordance with the Child Protection (Working with Children) Act 2012. Our Service ensures that no person is permitted to commence work or volunteer in any capacity unless they hold a valid WWCC (or are exempt) and the approved provider has verified the WWCC.

The WWCC is an assessment conducted by the Office of the Children's Guardian to determine whether a person poses an unacceptable risk to children. It includes the applicant's national criminal history and any findings of misconduct by a relevant entity. WWCCs are valid for five years. Students, volunteers and staff members under the age of 18 years are exempt from holding a WWCC, and provisions need to ensure a WWCC is available from the day they turn 18.

A National Police Check may be used as an additional screening measure to complement the legislated WWCC and produces a record of criminal history. This provides a broader overview of an individual's criminal history, including offences not related to children. Child safe recruitment processes in NSW recommend that this check be requested prior to the engagement of staff and educators.

WWCC holders are subject to ongoing monitoring, and any relevant new records may lead to the clearance being suspended or revoked. If new information about a person means they pose a risk to children's safety, that person's check will be re-assessed, and they will be immediately prohibited from working with children, in accordance with directions from the Office of the Children's Guardian. The Office of the Children's Guardian will notify both the individual and relevant organisations of any changes.

All staff, volunteers and students must notify the approved provider in writing within 72 hours of any changes to their WWCC status, their teacher registration or fit and proper status (or within 24 hours of becoming aware of the change). The approved provider must notify the NSW Early Learning Commission (ELC) within 24 hours of becoming aware of any changes, including negative notices or changes to teacher registration.

The National Continuous Checking Capability (NCCC) will be used to support real-time monitoring of worker criminal history across all jurisdictions.

CHILDSTORY REPORTER COMMUNITY

If a child is at immediate risk and police or medical assistance is required, educators and staff must contact emergency services immediately on 000.

The ChildStory Reporter Community is available for staff and educators when responding to and reporting risk of abuse and neglect. Mandatory reporters in NSW should use the online Mandatory Reporter Guide (MRG) if they have concerns that a child or young person is at risk of being neglected or physically, sexually or emotionally abused.

Our Service will ensure all educators and staff have access to the MRG and reporting decision tree via service-supplied electronic devices. (See: Child Protection Notification MRG Guide NSW).

IMPLEMENTATION

Our Service has zero tolerance for any abuse, neglect or harm against a child and endorses high quality practices in relation to protecting children. Educators have an important role in supporting children and young people and identifying any concerns that may jeopardise their safety, welfare, or wellbeing, guided by child safety principles and the best interests of the child as the paramount consideration, including:

- a duty of care to ensure that reasonable steps are taken to prevent harm to children
- obligations are met under child protection legislation
- obligations are met under work, health and safety legislation.

TRAINING AND AWARENESS

Our Service promotes a culture of child safety and wellbeing within the Service. The approved provider will ensure all prescribed personnel, i.e., all persons with management or control, nominated supervisors, persons in day-to-day charge, other staff, volunteers, and students:

- complete national child safety training (before or within 14 days of commencing work at the Service or working directly with children, including the foundation training and advanced training (where applicable), and renew training every 2 years

- provides evidence of the completion of approved child protection training
- participates in annual child protection training refresher courses

The approved provider will ensure all records relating to child safety and child protection training, including date of completion and renewal date, are recorded via the Training Register. Records will be kept for 3 years after a person's engagement with the Service ends.

- seek appropriate support for their own wellbeing following child protection concerns, disclosures, allegations or reports, while maintaining confidentiality and professional responsibilities.

CONFIDENTIALITY

It is important that all allegations and notifications remain confidential until investigated by the appropriate authorities. The individual who makes the notification should not inform the suspected perpetrator (if known) nor attempt to investigate any allegation themselves. This ensures the matter can be investigated without contamination of evidence or pre-rehearsed statements by the appropriate authorities.

Our Service is committed to providing support to children, families, educators or staff who have made a report regarding child protection, with a focus on upholding strict confidentiality throughout the process. Our primary concern is the wellbeing and safety of the child, and we will work closely with relevant authorities, professionals, and support networks to ensure that the child's best interests are met throughout the process. Our dedicated support system will assist educators and staff in navigating this challenging process while safeguarding their privacy and professional wellbeing.

PROTECTION FOR REPORTERS

All reporters who make a report about concerns for a child's safety or wellbeing are protected against liability and detrimental action for making or proposing to make a report under amendments to the Children and Young Persons (Care and Protection) Act 1998. Provided the report is made in good faith and on reasonable grounds:

It is an offence to take or threaten to take any detrimental action, such as intimidation, bullying, discrimination, or adverse treatment, against a person who has made or may make a complaint, report or disclosure under the National Law. These protections are outlined within our Protected Disclosures (Whistleblower) Policy, which supports and protects individuals who report concerns in good faith about child safety, compliance with the National Law, or Service operations.

DOCUMENTING A DISCLOSURE

A DISCLOSURE OF HARM (GENERAL)

A disclosure of harm emerges when someone, including a child, tells you about harm that has happened or is likely to happen. Disclosures may be received from a child, family, staff member, volunteer or another person.

WHEN RECEIVING A DISCLOSURE FROM A CHILD, THE PERSON RECEIVING THE DISCLOSURE WILL:

- give the child or young person their full attention
- remain calm and find a suitable place to talk where the child feels comfortable and can be heard
- not make promises that cannot be kept. For example, never promise confidentiality or that the information will not be shared.
- explain to the child or young person what you plan to do next and what is required
- reassure the child or young person that they have done the right thing in revealing the information or speaking up, and that it will be necessary to tell those who can help keep them safe
- let the child or young person take their time and use their own words
- only ask enough questions to clarify the information required to make a report, as further questioning could cause distress, confusion or interfere with any later enquiries
- tell the child or young person that the abuse or harm is not their fault
- support culturally and linguistically diverse children and children with additional needs to express themselves in their preferred way
- not attempt to investigate or mediate an outcome between the parties involved
- not confront the alleged perpetrator
- document the disclosure as soon as possible so the details are accurately captured, including:
 - time, date and place of the disclosure
 - 'word for word' record of what was said and what happened, including anything they (the staff member/educator) said, and any actions taken
 - date of record and signature.

CONCERNING OR HARMFUL SEXUAL BEHAVIOURS DISPLAYED BY A CHILD

Children's sexual development includes curiosity about their bodies and sexual identity. While some behaviours may be age and developmentally appropriate, behaviours that are harmful, coercive, persistent, exploitative or outside typical developmental expectations will be responded to immediately in accordance with supervision, child protection and mandatory reporting obligations.

Educators and staff will:

- engage in professional learning to promote a consistent and appropriate approach to identifying and responding to harmful sexual behaviours in children. This may include consideration of:
 - age and developmental capacity of the child/children
 - reasons why a child may display harmful sexual behaviours
 - behavioural history of the child
 - how the behaviour impacts other children
 - risk the behaviour poses to others
 - vulnerability of the child displaying harmful sexual behaviours, including whether they have experienced abuse or trauma, have been exposed to sexually explicit material, have attachment difficulties, or have developmental delays that may affect their understanding of appropriate boundaries and consent.
- respond to concerns about any sexual behaviour that may be harmful to the child or another child promptly (see Child Protection Notification Procedure)
- recognise that a child displaying harmful sexual behaviour may themselves be a victim of abuse, and respond to all such behaviour with this possibility in mind, ensuring the child's needs are assessed and addressed alongside any necessary notification
- follow guidance from the Traffic Lights Framework to manage the concern or complaint
 - RED - signals sexual behaviours which indicate immediate intervention and action
 - ORANGE - signals sexual behaviours that may be concerning and for educators to take notice and gather information and assess appropriate action
 - GREEN - signals sexual behaviours that are expected and age-appropriate for children's development
- provide appropriate supervision and take immediate action to ensure children's safety and wellbeing
- respond to any child displaying harmful or problem sexual behaviours in a manner that is respectful, trauma-informed and appropriate to the child's age and developmental stage

- work in partnership with families and relevant agencies where required
- support all children involved in a respectful and non-stigmatising manner
- document and report all concerns in accordance with child protection and mandatory reporting obligations
- conduct an environmental audit to identify any indoor or outdoor areas that may not offer clear lines of sight for supervision, including enclosed spaces such as cubby houses, play corners and bathroom areas.

EDUCATING CHILDREN ABOUT PROTECTIVE BEHAVIOURS

Our educational program will support children to learn about their rights, develop protective behaviours, and encourage them to express their views, feelings and concerns. A risk assessment will be conducted prior to the delivery of any child protection education program to ensure it is age-appropriate and supports children's wellbeing.

Children will be supported to learn:

- about safe and unsafe behaviour in both physical and online environments
- about appropriate and inappropriate contact in an age-appropriate and developmentally appropriate way
- about body safety, including using correct names for private body parts, recognising inappropriate touch and respecting personal space and boundaries
- appropriate interactions with other children, including respecting personal space, body boundaries, consent, privacy and the right of others to feel safe and comfortable
- that no other child is allowed to touch your private body parts and you are not allowed to touch another child's private parts
- what to do if another child asks them to engage in sexual behaviour or touches them without consent
- about their right to feel safe and respected at all times
- to say 'no' to anything that makes them feel unsafe or uncomfortable, and seek help from trusted adults
- strategies to help them recognise and respond to situations that may make them feel unsafe or uncomfortable
- to identify and express feelings when they feel safe, unsafe, worried or uncomfortable
- identify trusted educators, adults and friends who can support them

- the difference between 'safe and unsafe secrets', and that there is no secret that cannot be shared with a trusted adult
- that educators are available to listen and support them if they have any concerns
- to tell a trusted adult about any behaviour, activity or person that makes them feel unsafe or worried
- to recognise and express their feelings verbally and non-verbally
- strategies to help them regulate emotions and seek support when needed.

BREACH OF THE CHILD PROTECTION POLICY

A breach is any action or inaction by an individual within the Service, including staff, educators, students, volunteers and visitors who fail to comply with any part of this policy. The rights and best interests of children are paramount, and breaches will be treated seriously.

Any allegations of criminal offences against children, including sexual offences, must be reported to the NSW Police and relevant authorities immediately. Any person who reports a breach or concern in good faith will be protected against retaliation under the Protected Disclosures (Whistleblower) Policy.

All breaches will be recorded and outcomes documented in accordance with record-keeping requirements. A breach may include (but is not limited to):

- failure to report suspected child abuse, neglect, or risk of harm
- engaging in or failing to prevent inappropriate conduct or inappropriate discipline towards a child
- breaching confidentiality about a child protection matter
- failing to maintain a valid WWCC, where required
- not following the Service's Code of Conduct Policy, supervision or reporting procedures
- any action or inaction that places a child at risk of harm.

MANAGING A BREACH OF THE CHILD PROTECTION POLICY

Management will respond to any breaches of this policy in a fair, unbiased and supportive manner by:

- liaising with the Department of Communities and Justice (DCJ), NSW Police and/or the Office of the Children's Guardian, as appropriate to ensure evidence is not destroyed or compromised
- not conducting an internal investigation while external agencies such as the Department of Communities and Justice (DCJ), NSW Police and/or the Office of the Children's Guardian are conducting an investigation

- following directions from external agencies such as the DCJ, Office of the Children's Guardian and/or NSW Police, which may include immediately preventing the educator or staff member who is the subject of allegations from working with children or young people until authorities conclude their investigation
- complying with all NSW ELC requirements regarding notifications and compliance actions
- displaying the Service's compliance history and any compliance actions under review by the ELC for families to view.

Management may undertake an internal investigation if the DCJ, Office of the Children's Guardian and/or NSW Police are not conducting their own investigation or if their action has concluded. Management will:

- give the educator, staff member, student or volunteer the opportunity to provide their version of events and respond to the concerns
- document the details of the breach, including the information provided by all parties
- record the outcome clearly, factually and without bias
- maintain confidentiality in accordance with Service policy and legal obligations
- reach a decision based on fair consideration of all evidence and available information.

OUTCOME OF A BREACH OF THE CHILD PROTECTION POLICY

Staff members or educators who fail to adhere to this policy may be in breach of their terms of employment. Visitors, students or volunteers who fail to comply with this policy may face termination of their engagement. Depending on the nature of the breach, outcomes may include:

- disciplinary procedures, including termination of employment, if required
- reinforcing the relevant requirements of the Child Protection Policy or procedure that were not followed
- providing closer supervision
- providing further education and training
- restorative processes where appropriate and consistent with legal obligations
- reviewing current policies and procedures and developing new policies and procedures if necessary
- external regulatory or enforcement action, including compliance actions, fines, conditions placed on service approval, changes to the quality rating or a suspension of rating or other measures, including Service closure.

REPORTABLE CONDUCT SCHEME –

OVERVIEW OF RESPONSIBILITIES

In an emergency where there are immediate concerns for a child's safety, emergency services must be contacted on 000.

The approved provider (as the head of the organisation) has obligations under the Reportable Conduct Scheme (Children's Guardian Act 2019) to notify the Office of the Children's Guardian (OCG) of reportable allegations and convictions against their employees (including volunteers, contractors and students where they meet the definition of an employee under the Act). This includes notifying the OCG, managing the matter in accordance with procedural fairness, and reporting outcomes of the investigation. This section is to be read in conjunction with the Reportable Conduct Scheme Procedure, which provides details of responsibilities and obligations, prevention and awareness, reporting requirements, investigations, risk management and record keeping.

All educators and staff members have an obligation to report relevant allegations of reportable conduct to the approved provider. Where appropriate, concerns may also be reported directly to the OCG if there is a concern that the approved provider has not met their reporting duty. Mandatory reporting obligations, including notifications to the Child Protection Helpline, operate alongside the Reportable Conduct Scheme and do not replace it.

SUPPORT FOR EDUCATORS AND STAFF

The approved provider, management and nominated supervisor will ensure:

- educators and staff who are involved in making a mandatory report, responding to a disclosure of abuse or neglect, or managing a notification involving concerning or harmful sexual behaviours displayed by a child are offered timely and appropriate support
- a confidential debrief is provided to any educator or staff member following their involvement in a child protection notification
- educators and staff are provided with access to professional support is required
- the wellbeing of educators and staff involved in child protection matters is monitored on an ongoing basis following a notification
- educators and staff feel safe and supported to raise concerns about their own wellbeing without fear of judgement or reprisal

- the support provided to educators and staff involved in child protection matters remains confidential.
